APPLICATION FOR INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AGENCY ASSISTANCE

Jack N. Spaeth
Executive Director

Online Posting Requirement. Industrial development agencies are required by law to post on websites and make available to the public all Applications for Financial Assistance and materials submitted in support of Applications. If when completing this Application you deem any information to be specifically exempted from disclosure under Article Six of the Public Officers Law, please answer the question "This information is deemed to be exempt from disclosure under Article Six of the Public Officers Law and is submitted on the attached confidential addendum." Please answer any such questions on a separate Addendum titled, "Confidential and Protected by Article Six of the Public Officers Law." If UIDA is challenged to produce any information the Applicant identifies as protected, the Applicant will be required at its sole cost to defend such assertion on behalf of UIDA.

Prevailing Wage. Effective for closings that occur after December 31, 2021, certain industrial agency projects will be subject to prevailing wage rules. We had hoped to be able to provide clients with some basic guidance regarding the impending change in law long before now, but as of today the language of the statute is ambiguous at best, and more aptly described as nearly impossible to interpret. New York State has yet to appoint a member to the committee that will have oversight, and who will be able to answer questions regarding terms that have no assigned definition.

Compliance is fully the obligation of the project operator. I am attaching the legislation here so you can review with your counsel to determine what impact, if any, such a rule will have on your project.

We will keep project operators apprised if we receive more definitive guidance on the subject.

MEMORANDUM RELATIVE TO INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS

1. When it is decided that industrial revenue bonds may suit the needs of a particular company, the first order of business is to have the company complete an application form so that it may be submitted to bond counsel for a formal decision as to whether or not the project qualifies for industrial revenue bonds.
2. In certain circumstances an oral approval of the project may be had before the application is submitted, but in any event nothing much occurs until the application is completed and submitted to the Agency and to bond counsel.
3. Upon completion of the application and approval of bond counsel, the Agency will meet and adopt an Inducement Resolution and review the Environmental Impact Questionnaire and Statement of the Project Applicant. At this time a Resolution should be adopted by the Agency concerning the environmental impact.
4. The question of bond counsel must be resolved by, between and among the various parties, including the Project Applicant, the Agency, the Trustee, and the Bond Purchaser. In most instances, the Agency requires its designated bond counsel to be used by the Applicant.
5. The sale of the bonds is, of course, crucial to the entire transaction. The bonds may be sold through an underwriter either locally or in New York City; or there may be a private placement of the bonds with a bank, insurance company or a combination of purchasers. In connection with the sale of the bonds, it is essential to negotiate with the purchaser all of the terms and conditions of the transaction which are to be contained in the security instruments, whether they are real estate mortgages, security agreements or personalty or both. These terms include, among other things, the interest rate, the maturity of the bonds, the type of bonds, guarantees, repayment schedules, etc. All of this must be completed prior to the drafting of the Bond Purchase Agreement.
6. The fee schedule is attached covering the origination fee for the development corporation and the Agency's work with respect to the project and the work of the Agency's counsel. These two combined normally are approximately 1 1/2% for up to $600,000 and scale down 1/8 of 1% for issues in excess of $3,000,000.* There is a minimum fee of $3,000.00 for the development corporation (Agency) and $4,500.00 for Agency counsel regardless of the size of the bond issue. There is, of course bond counsel's fee which normally is about $10,000 minimum.

There are other fees for the Trustee (origination fee, annual fee and Trustee's attorney); bond purchasers may, as a condition of the purchase of the bonds, require that their counsel's fee be paid out of the project costs; and then, of course, there is the fee for the project occupant's counsel.
7. After the terms and conditions of the transaction are fairly well established, preliminary drafts of the Bond Purchase Agreement, Trust Indenture, Lease and Guaranty are prepared and reviewed by all participants and after a closing date is established, final documents are prepared.
8. A public hearing is held after which Mayor as Chief Executive must approve or disapprove the issue.
9. The Agency then adopts a formal Bond Resolution.
10. Closing is held.

PAYMENT IN LIEU OF TAXES - GUIDELINES

The following are guidelines the Agency uses to determine in Payment in lieu of taxes. NOTE: Final determinations are at the sole discretion of the Utica Industrial Development Agency.

MANUFACTURING AND INDUSTRIAL PROJECTS

The Company shall pay a percentage of the taxes that would otherwise be payable if the Project was not tax exempt, to each taxing jurisdiction in which the Project is located as follows:

- a) 33 1/3% of such taxes through the fifth (5th) year of the lease.
- b) 66 2/3% of such taxes from the sixth (6th) through tenth (10th) year of the lease.

COMMERCIAL PROJECTS

The Company shall pay a percentage of the taxes that would otherwise be payable if the Leased Land was not tax exempt to each taxing jurisdiction in which the Leased Land is located at follows:

- a) 50% of such taxes through the second (2nd) year of the Lease.
- b) 75% of such taxes from the third (3rd) through the fifth (5th) year of the Lease.
- c) The full amount of such taxes after the fifth (5th) year of the Lease.

EXISTING BUSINESS

In the event that the Company is not acquiring real property but is simply making improvements to existing real property, the Company shall pay the full amount of such taxes based upon the assessed value of the existing real property; and with respect to any increase in assessment resulting from improvements that are financed through the Bond Issue, the above payment in lieu of taxes shall apply.

Acquisitions of existing commercial properties which, in the Agency's opinion, do not add to the economic growth of the City of Utica shall pay the full amount of taxes based upon the assessed value of the existing real property.

* - Pursuant to Agency policy, the foregoing schedules are subject to modification based on exigent economic factors.

FEE SCHEDULE:

1. Agency fee for the development corporation:*)
 - a) 1/2 of 1% up to $600,000 with a minimum of $3,000.
 - b) 1/3 of 1% for the amount between $600,000 to $1,500,000.
 - c) 1/4 of 1% for the amount between $1,500,000 to $3,000,000.
 - d) 1/8 of 1% for all in excess of $3,000,000.
 - e) Projects that utilize Housing Finance Agency or other NYS housing agency funding or are residential in nature will be charged an Agency Fee of .005 multiplied by the total project costs.

2. Agency's Counsel's fee:
 - a) 1% up to $600,000 with minimum of $4,500.
 - b) For larger projects, Agency Counsel's fees are subject to negotiation.

3. For Bond Counsel's role and fee, please see pages 5-7.

4. Administrative Fee:

The Public Authority Accountability Act has enacted new guidelines that require IDAs to follow strict and complicated reporting requirements regarding all financial assistance granted. In an effort to recuperate the costs that the IDA will incur to comply with these new regulations, the City of Utica Industrial Development Agency has adopted a policy that requires each project to pay an annual fee of $3,000 as part of the lease payments for each and every year of IDA assistance. Those projects that are more complex in nature may require a greater fee but will be evaluated on a project by project basis.

5. Sales Tax Exemption Extension Fee:

A fee of $500.00 must be submitted to the UIDA as a processing fee for an agent requesting an extension of the Sales Tax Exemption.

Non-refundable $250 application fee submitted at time of application to be credited against closing fee.

*These fees are subject to being reviewed every six months, and the fees may, as economic circumstances dictate, be adjusted.

INDUSTRIAL REVENUE BOND - FACT SHEET

Bonds issued by City of Utica Industrial Development Agency, a public benefit corporation that issues tax-exempt securities for industrial projects. Acquisition without expansion or renovation is an eligible project.

The Agency finances a project by issuing revenue bonds in its own name. These bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the property. The I.D.A. then leases the facility to the company with the rental revenues being used to pay the principal and interest on the bonds.

When the bond issue is retired, the plant is sold to the firm for a nominal sum. During the lease period, the company may take depreciation on the facility; the building is carried as an asset on its books; and the outstanding debt on the issue as a liability. I.D.A. built facilities are exempt from New York State Mortgage tax and materials used in construction are exempt from the State Sales Tax.

Interest rates and terms are negotiated between the firm and the lender(s). In general, rates are several points lower than conventional financing. The usual bond term is 15 years.

The program is mortgage financing of capital assets, land, building, and equipment. Revenue bond financing cannot provide operating capital refinancing or inventories and receivables.

Security offered for the bonds relates to the credit of the firm plus any other security which may be required by the bond buyer. The rate is basically determined by the feasibility of the project, credit worthiness of the firm, and the state of the market for tax-exempt securities at the time.

There is a bonding limit that a firm cannot spend more than $10 million on capital expenditures in any one municipality over a six-year period measured three years back or forward from the date of the issue without causing the bonds to lose their tax-exempt status.

I.D.A. owned facilities do not pay property taxes. However, a payment in-lieu of taxes is made by the firm as specified in the I.D.A. Guidelines.

MEMORANDUM FROM AGENCY BOND COUNSEL FOR BORROWERS AND LENDERS
PARTICIPATING IN THE CITY OF UTICA
INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AGENCY'S INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT BOND PROGRAM

As bond counsel to the City of Utica Industrial Development Agency, we have found it useful to advise borrowers and lenders which are planning to participate in an industrial development bond financing with the Agency as to the services we provide as bond counsel, the general nature of these financings, the probable timetable of events, and potential problem areas. The following information is provided to that end, and hopefully will serve to expedite the bond issue for the benefit of all concerned.

As a matter of custom and prudence, both the Agency and purchasers of municipal securities have come to require an opinion of recognized bond counsel in connection with the issuance of the securities to the effect that (1) the obligations have been properly authorized and issued and are valid, (2) the legal documentation effectively provides the intended security for the obligations, and (3) interest on the obligations is exempt from federal income taxation. It will be our responsibility in this financing to render such an opinion.

In order to establish the factual basis for the legal conclusions expressed in our opinion, we will prepare a record of proceedings which contains all documents and other materials necessary in our view to make certain that the form and substance of the transaction conform to the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, the New York State Industrial Development Agency Act and other applicable State laws. Included in the record of proceedings will be a lease agreement, and indenture of mortgage and trust, a bond purchase agreement and a guaranty agreement, the basic documents of the financing more fully described below. These basic documents reflect the specific concerns of the Agency, particularly in the area of assuring that the project will be constructed or acquired and will be properly maintained and operated during the life of the bonds. The documents also contain the contractual assurances concerning the use of the bond proceeds necessary to our bond opinion.

We also as bond counsel participate with the Agency, the company and the bond purchaser in integrating any additional security provisions with the bond format of the financing, such as provisions for a mortgage, security interest or separate guaranty. In connection with public offerings, it is customary for us to assist in preparing the materials used in the offering, to make an examination as to their accuracy, completeness and legal sufficiency, and to render additional opinions on specific matters when requested. There are a number of matters of administrative detail, such as coordinating and making arrangements for the closing, for which we ordinarily assume responsibility. In addition, we are often called upon to consult with the Agency, the company, its accountants and the bond trustee after the transaction has been made.

City of Utica Industrial Development Agency bond financings are normally cast in a lease format. Concurrently with the issuance of the bonds and execution of the lease agreement the real property constituting the site of the project will be conveyed in fee simple to the Agency for nominal consideration. The bond proceeds are deposited to a construction fund for use in the acquisition or construction of the project by the company on behalf on the Agency. The lease agreement further provides for the lease of the project by the Agency to the company for periodic rental payments equal to the debt service payable by the Agency on the bonds. Upon payment of the bonds in full, the company has the option to purchase the project for a nominal sum. In addition, the lease agreement contains provisions concerning the maintenance and operation of the project, indemnification, federal tax matters, sale and leasing of the project, assignment of the agreement, and defaults and remedies.

The Agency's rights under the lease agreement are pledged under an indenture of mortgage and trust to a trustee for the bondholders selected by the company. Under the indenture, the Agency's interest in the project is mortgaged to the trustee as additional security for the bonds. The trust indenture also contains the form of the bonds and provides for their issuance, exchange and transfer, establishes various funds and accounts, and sets forth the rights and duties of the trustee.

A bond purchase agreement executed by the company, the Agency and the bond purchaser provides formally for the purchase of the bonds. It also sets forth the forms of the various certificates, reports and opinions which are to be delivered at the time of adoption of the Agency's bond resolution and at the bond closing.

Our involvement in a company's proposed financing begins formally with a review of your application for assistance to the Agency. Based upon the description provided to us, we advise the Agency that in our view the proposed project qualifies under the New York State Industrial Development Agency Act as one for which the Agency may issue bonds. The Agency's staff also finds the proposed project to be qualified. On the basis of the staff recommendation and our preliminary opinion, the Agency's board of directors adopts an inducement resolution authorizing the company to proceed with the acquisition or construction of the project.

The resolution indicates the Agency's intention to issue its industrial development bonds to finance the proposed facility. Before this can be accomplished, the arrangements for the purchase of the bonds must be made. Inasmuch as the bonds will be secured not by public credit but solely by a mortgage and the company's corporate credit, this responsibility rests with the company. Depending on the size of the issue, such arrangements may be made with a commercial bank, with an investment banker, with a placement agent or with some other lender.

Our direct involvement in the financing resumes when the company reaches a firm agreement with an investor as to purchase the bonds and reflects the agreement in a commitment letter concurred in by both parties. The commitment letter provides us with the necessary assurance that the project and its financing are viable, and also enables us to prepare materials which reflect the understanding of the company and the lender as to the terms of the issue. If the bonds are to be sold to the public we ask that the company and its investment banker concur as to the feasibility and timing of the bond issue.

The commitment letter should contain at a minimum the following basic information: (1) name of the company; (2) name(s) of the bond purchaser(s); (3) name of the trustee for the bond issue; (4) principal amount of the bonds; (5) principal payment date(s); (6) interest rate(s); (7) interest payment date(s); (8) the company's prepayment rights; (9) whether there will be a mortgage or security interest on the project; (10) whether collateral in addition to the project will be pledged to secure the bonds; (11) whether the payment of the bonds will be guaranteed by the company or a third party. This information may be incorporated in the lender's form of commitment letter in any suitable manner. It is generally most helpful to the transaction if the lender uses a "long form" commitment letter, inasmuch as this allows the lender and borrower to focus and agree on the detailed terms of the business understanding (particularly the business representations and covenants) outside the context of the bond documentation.

Once assembled, copies of the commitment letter are forwarded to the Agency. We then proceed to prepare the documentation for the issue, a process that normally requires about three weeks. Following review of the documentation, a meeting of all parties and their counsel is normally held to discuss any comments and suggestions. Succeeding drafts are then prepared and additional meetings and conference calls held in order to finalize the documents. This process may take from one to three months, depending upon factors such as the urgency or complexity of the financing. Once agreement is reached on the documentation the Agency adopts a second resolution (the "bond resolution") authorizing the issuance of the bonds and the execution of the various contracts by Agency officials. The closing follows the adoption of the Agency's bond resolution by one to three weeks.

The materials and procedures that are employed in Agency financings have been refined and have been received with general acceptance over several years. Certain requirements imposed by law and by the Agency, however, tend to meet recurrent confusion and difficulty, and therefore perhaps should be briefly highlighted. In order to assure that each project financed will be in compliance with applicable law, the Agency seeks an opinion of your attorney to the effect that all zoning, wetlands, environmental and air and water pollution laws have been complied with and that any necessary permits and approvals have been obtained or have been applied for and are expected to be received. Also required is an accountant's opinion concurring with a company officer's certificate that at least 90% of the bond proceeds have been or will be expended for land or depreciable property within the meaning of the Internal Revenue Code. Finally, for issues of more than $1,000,000, an accountant's opinion must be furnished concurring with a company officer's certificate listing all capital expenditures paid or incurred in the last three years by the company or any related person with respect to any facilities in City of Utica. These expenditures, together with the bond issue, may not aggregate more than $10,000,000. Forms of these opinions and certifications are included in the basic documentation which we distribute upon receipt of the commitment letter.

The statement for our services, in accordance with our understanding with the Agency, is presented at the closing. While there will be variations depending upon the circumstances of each transaction, our fee for issues of $1,000,000 or less is normally between $8500 and $12,000 and for issues in excess of $1,000,000 between $12,000 and $20,000. Factors such as the size of the issue, the contribution of other parties, the time required, the nature of the federal tax questions involved, the manner in which the bonds are sold, and the complexity of any additional security and business covenants will affect the size of our fee.

The statement for services will also include our direct, out-of-pocket disbursements. Our disbursements include our copying, telephone, travel and overtime charges. Of these the largest is that for the copying of documents. The copying charge per issue generally ranges from $1000 to $1500, depending on the size of the distribution list and the number of drafts involved. Other disbursements average $500 in the aggregate but also fluctuate considerably.

Finally, it is customary for us to prepare for all parties involved a bound volume containing copies of all of the documents delivered as part of the record of proceedings for the issue. The charges for copying and for binding normally averages $35 per volume and, depending upon the circumstances, is billed directly to the company either at the closing by us or after the closing by the copying and binding forms we engage.
